

MISSIONARY MOMENTS

Welcome to our series of Missionary Moments. Please read these updates from our Faith Promise Missionaries and pray regularly for them. Use these "Moments" to get to know them better.

Question: What special difficulties or challenges are you facing?

John Berger,
CrossWorld, Vice President of U. S. Operations

CrossWorld will be working to refine our ministry and organizational visions, and in the process consider if and how to retool our public "brand" or image. I'm heavily engaged in that project. CrossWorld will begin moving to Kansas City this summer, and I will play a central role in both planning and execution. One more specific challenge will be gaining a better understanding of the natures of all of our ministries around the world, and getting to know our international personnel.

Scott Brinson,
Children's Bible Mission, Oklahoma and Arkansas

Our greatest challenges currently are (1) Maintaining existing Released Time classes due to increased opposition, and implementing new classes; (2) Passing Released Time legislation. Please pray that God would be pleased to keep the doors open in communities where RT is currently functioning, and open new doors so that the ministry might expand. We also need strong sponsorship for our Released Time bill in both the state house and senate.

Learning the Arabic language is very challenging and, of course, motivation to persevere has its highs and lows. We would both like to have more disciplined prayer lives and see this as an area for improvement.
